

A Studies Of Farmer Collective Action For The Agriculture Cooperatives

Dr. Shakil Ahmad

We have to studies of a cooperative is “an independent association of women and men, united voluntarily to meet their common, social, cultural, needs and aspirations through a jointly owned and democratically controlled enterprise,” use for analysing the nature of the agriculture phenomena.

Agricultural cooperatives also enables farmers to improve product and service quality and reduce risks. They may also empower their members economically and socially by involving them in decision-making processes that create additional rural employment opportunities, or enable them to become more resilient to economic and enviornmental shocks.
