

Position and problem of chemical industry in Bihar

Virendra Kumar

Indian chemical and petrochemical industry now ranks twelfth in the world. The Indian chemical industry contributes 35 percent of India's gross domestic products. The total investment in Indian chemical sector is approximately US 60 billion dollar generating an employment of 1 million. Currently per capita consumption of chemical products in India is about 1/10th of that of the world average. Now India is a leading contributor in chemical industrial market. The states like Gujarat, Maharashtra, Tamilnadu, and West Bengal are more successful in this field than Bihar.
